Adams Vineyard Winery

1922 NW Pettygrove St.
Portland, Oregon 97209
(503) 294-0606

The vineyard, with its warm and protected micro-climate, was planted in 1976 by Peter and Carol Adams, and is located 2.5 miles northwest of Newburg. The soil is jory clay with out-croppings of sandstone and gumbo clay. There are 6.6 acres planted in the pommard clone of Pinot noir and 4.4 acres given to the UCD 108 clone of Chardonnay. The vines are trained in a double guyot system (head trained and cane pruned) and the exposure is south to southwest. The vines are cropped to yield 3 to 4 tons per acre. The vineyard is carefully tended by Bill Doan and family.

The winery, located 40 minutes from the vineyard, is in downtown Portland. This is the first winery to be established in the city. Our unique winery is compact in size and sits in the shadow of the Freemont Bridge and can be identified by its colorful neon sign.

The grapes are handled using traditional techniques ideally suited to the production of fine quality Pinot noir and Chardonnay wines. Fermentation in small open vats, long contact with the yeast lees, malolactic fermentation and aging in small French oak cooperage are all steps which add to the complexity and unique character of the wines.

Marianne Schroeder

1524 Schutzwahl Land • Grants Pass, Oregon 97527 • (503) 479-2449

My almonds are roasted according to an old German recipe. The coating contains water, some sugar (I use as little as possible and much less than the original recipe calls for) and spices. I use no oils, butter, or fat of any kind, therefore this product contains no bad cholesterol.

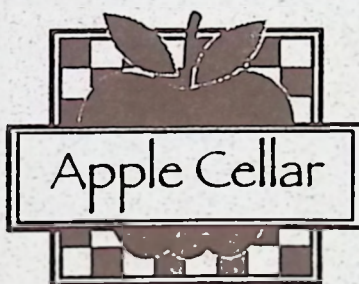

Just as delicious and nutritious are my recently added hazelnuts.

In 1850, pioneer Peter Britt established Valley View Vineyard, the Northwest's first winery, in the Rogue Valley—Oregon's "Mediterranean." In 1971 the Wisnowsky family moved to Oregon in search of the ideal location to grow winegrapes. They rediscovered this unique region and planted 26 acres in the beautiful Applegate Valley to Cabernet Sauvignon, Chardonnay and Merlot. The Applegate is one of the warmest, driest and highest valleys in western Oregon. Very warm days fully ripen fruit while cool nights preserve precious grape flavors. For twenty years, Valley View has quietly produced some of the finest Cabernets and Merlots in America. All of their hand-crafted wines are sold in Oregon or by mail order. Valley View is one of Oregon's most award-winning wineries, receiving 12 gold medals in 1993 in international competitions. Visitors welcome: 11-5 daily
